FAMILY COUNSELLING SERVICE

Homebuilders Counselling Service exists to ensure children, young people and parents have access to appropriate and effective counselling across the West Coast.

The purpose of the counselling is:

- To maintain the focus on the safety and well-being of children by offering up to 6 brief intervention sessions per annum (per family) to children 12 years and under
- To provide up to 6 brief intervention sessions per annum (per family) to parent(s) with children 12 years and under

The Counselling Service looks for the following outcomes:

- Improved health, welfare and educational outcomes for children, young people and their families
- Improved parenting skills
- Improved family functioning/relationships

Process for counselling:

- A referral is made to Homebuilders
- An initial assessment is completed by Homebuilders with the client
- Clients will choose a practitioner from Homebuilders approved practitioners
- A referral is made by Homebuilders to the practitioner of choice for up to six sessions
- The practitioner may negotiate with the client for additional fees. This will be discussed between the client and the practitioner
- An evaluation is completed after six sessions and given to the practitioner and/or to Homebuilders
